To the RBIII Foundation,

On behalf of everyone at Temple University Campus Recreation, thank you for your generous donation to our department. The funds are utilized to supplement our recognition programs for our 250+ student staff. These programs include an appreciation breakfast each fall and an awards lunch each spring.

We are very happy that we were able to collaborate last summer to have the RBIII Basketball Tournament at our facility. Having attended myself it was amazing to see so many former Temple University students that were employees and participants of our programs at Campus Rec. attend the event. The fact that Robbie and Justin were members of our student staff working in Intramurals, it means a lot to us to be a small part of the success of the RBIII Foundation.

Our student staff are the foundation of our department. Without them, we would not be able to provide the facilities and services to the Temple University community. That is why we feel that the appreciation and recognition events are so important to our program. Below is more about the Campus Recreation Program at Temple University.

It is the primary goal of Temple University's Campus Recreation Department to provide the university community with quality-oriented leisure time opportunities, in a safe environment. These sport-related activities may take many forms, such as intramurals, sport clubs, informal recreation, special events, aquatics, group fitness, adapted recreation or student staff development. On all occasions, participation and engagement shall be the main focal point, with a range of activities being available to everyone from the casual beginner to the highly skilled competitor. Additionally, it is hoped that those individuals participating in Campus Recreation programs will gain a full appreciation of the physiological, psychological and social value of active recreation and participation; as well as a better sense of their own ability to function productively in both a cooperative and competitive environment.

On behalf of the entire staff at Temple University Campus Recreation, it has been a pleasure to get to know Robbie and Justin's family and friends through the RBIII Foundation. We look forward to future collaboration with the RBIII Foundation.

Sincerely,
